Of Counsel | Salt Lake City

Biography

Located in Parsons Behle & Latimer's Salt Lake City office, Peter Ott is a member of Parsons' corporate, and banking and financial services practices. Focusing his practice on debt financing transactions, Peter has experience representing clients in a wide variety of complex financings across different industries.

Peter represents private equity groups, commercial lending institutions and other private and public companies across various jurisdictions domestically and abroad. His experience includes helping clients navigate secured and unsecured financings, including senior and subordinated debt, working capital credit facilities, bridge loans, investment grade financings, acquisition financings, leveraged financings, revolving financings and asset-based financings. Peter also has experience with debt restructurings and workouts, including liability management transactions and debtor-in-possession financings.

Prior to joining Parsons Behle & Latimer, Peter practiced as a partner at Kirkland & Ellis, where his practice focused on representing private equity sponsors, private credit lenders and public and private company clients in connection with their complex debt finance needs. He also practiced for several years at Dorsey & Whitney, LLC in Salt Lake City and White & Case LLP in Washington, D.C.

In his free time, Peter enjoys spending time with family, cooking and listening to more podcasts than he is willing to admit.
