Prior to joining Parsons, Mr. Christiansen practiced for six years in Los Angeles, California as an associate attorney at Milbank, Tweed, Hadley & McCloy, now known as Milbank (1990-93) and as an associate at Stroock & Stroock & Lavan (1993-95). Mr. Christiansen maintains an active practice in California. He is willing to do certain types of large cases on a contingency fee basis. Mr. Christiansen has served as an expert witness in multiple securities litigation matters.

Experience

Representing Biodigester in High-Stakes Lawsuit Against Hog Farm

Served as legal counsel for a biodigester company in a federal lawsuit against a large hog farm operation. The case, stemming from the farm's depopulation efforts, involves complex issues related to methane conversion and tax credits. Despite initial setbacks in obtaining injunctive relief, the litigation progressed with the filing of an amended complaint seeking over $300 million in damages.

Defense Against Consumer Class Action for Kratom Product Manufacturer

Served as defense counsel in a consumer class action filed against a kratom product manufacturer in federal court. The lawsuit, seeking unspecified damages, alleges alleged addiction issues related to the company's kratom-containing products. Defended the client by filing an answer denying material allegations and asserting various affirmative defenses. Discovery is continuing.

Arbitration and Counterclaims

Defended lawsuit filed in district court by filing a motion to compel arbitration as well as filing counterclaims that resulted in the client being awarded over $1 million in damages.

George Najjar v. New U Life Corporation, et al.

Defended client against lawsuit filed by the alleged founder of an MLM company alleging the client froze the founder out of a partnership and misappropriated funds. A favorable settlement was reached.

Obtained Preliminary Injunction Enjoining Former Executive from Breaching Nonsolicitation Agreement

On July 31, 2021, in a hotly-contested international arbitration proceeding, Parsons Behle & Latimer obtained a preliminary injunction enjoining a former executive of a direct selling company from attempting to convert the customers of his prior employer to join a competing direct selling company.
