Biography

Licensed in both Utah and California, Lewis Francis has more than 25 years of experience in litigating, arbitrating and mediating disputes involving franchise and distributor agreements, arbitration clauses, trademarks, copyrights, unfair competition and land use decisions in various state and federal jurisdictions across the United States. He also regularly pursues and opposes both preliminary injunctions and permanent relief.

Mr. Francis is also well versed in obtaining the necessary business immigration visas for specialized temporary employees, such as those qualifying for H-1B, E-3, TN, O-1 or L-1A and L-1Bs. He also has considerable experience in securing U.S. permanent residency (green card applications) for immigrant workers, including through PERM Labor Certification in the EB-2 and EB-3 classifications as well direct applications in the EB-1, Multinational Executive/Manager and National Interest Waiver categories. Mr. Francis regularly represents companies in the banking, financial services, aquaculture, natural resources, information technology and software development industries in their applications to the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services, Department of State and Border Control.

Experience

Real Property Management v. Randall Averitte

Helped Franchisor enforce post-termination obligations of Franchise Agreement against non-renewing franchisee by obtaining a Preliminary Injunction. Court ordered cessation of competing business, all associated trademarks, and any use of franchise client information.

Apex Energy Solutions v. Apex Energy Group, LLC

Represented franchisee in obtaining Temporary Restraining Order against franchisor's attempts to terminate business. Used leverage to obtain settlement with franchisor.

Kelley/JMK/USA Enterprises v. Unishippers Global Logistics

Obtained order compelling arbitration of claims made in California State Court by former California franchisee against franchisor and its individual officers. Court also ordered that arbitration take place in Utah, where the company and its officers were located.
